Lawrence Khong

Asia's Renowned Illusionist

"We aspire to give our audience much more than an entertaining magic show. We desire to create a moment of wonderment for all of you who watch our show and hope that we may inspire you to look for the truth behind the magic that manifests itself before your very eyes."

Ever since Lawrence was a young man, he loved to amaze his peers with his simple but bewildering sleight of hand magic tricks. His love for magic caused him to spare no effort in perfecting his skills – birthing in him a deeply rooted passion for an excellence in magic.

In 2001, Lawrence had a dream of creating a magic show with a difference – it would be a combination of drama, music, and a meaningful plot. Armed with his deep passion and strong dreams, Lawrence embarked on a journey in creating his flagship show, the 'Magic of Love'.

For Lawrence & his daughter Priscilla, the 'Magic of Love' is ever growing, ever developing results of what skeptics consider an "impossible dream". Obviously, they didn't count on the determination and myriad gifts of the exceptional performer. Together with his real-life daughter Priscilla Khong, they present to the world 'The Magic of Lawrence and Priscilla'. The duo also produced and directed, 'From Illusion to Reality', 'An Evening of Enchantment', 'The Great Escape' and 'The Spook Show'.

Priscilla Khong

She floats in mid-air, appears and disappears, and allows her body to be cut into half! She is, of course, Priscilla Khong, the lovely daughter of Lawrence. Destined to perform magic, she started out as Lawrence's assistant in 'Illusion to Reality' in year 2000. This propelled her to becoming the co-star of the show 'Magic of Love' in the year 2001. Erudite in dance forms like jazz, hip-hop, salsa and ballet, Priscilla came under her father's tutelage to hone her magic skills. Having the privilege to be taught by legendary magicians like The Great Tomsoni, Jeff McBride, Shimada & Jonathan Pendragon, she deftly learned the elements of her craft.

As the Creative producer, Priscilla passionately worked on development of the show from inception to date, believing that this show will one day be a household name. Priscilla also runs Lawrence's School of Magic and spearheads Project SMILE and Project SMILE 2 – A Healing Touch. She conducts magic classes for all ages at the Lawrence's School of Magic.
